Bolivia: Climate Resilience - Integrated Basin Management Project (IBRD)

We agree with CIF's project.

However, please note that Government of Bolivia requested JICA to extend technical assistance for integrated basin management project in Valle Alto in Cochabamba as well.

As one of the project sites where pilot project will be implemented in the project overlaps a part of component C of the project CIF proposed, we supposed that close coordination and communication among related organizations regarding both projects are highly required at the stage of project formulation.

Thus, JICA proposes to conduct sufficient exchanges of views on the both projects between your and our office in La Paz, for instance, before determining project component in order to avoid duplication of assistance.
